PROFILE

I am a confident, hardworking individual, with a passion for design. It has been said that I am able to embrace challenges and think innovatively when formulating ideas. Previously, my co-designers have praised my ability to work well in a team role, however I also enjoy working on individual projects.

With industry experience and lead design roles in college, I have developed a secure and versatile design style. Collaboration with directors is something I pride myself in, and I am equipped with the skillset to communicate my design ideas effectively.
